

Yee-Haw South Point...

Written by Paul Belmudes
Saturday, 17 October 2009 05:12

---

"Ono" Kine Grinz Tonight!

Finally the chance to fish South Point on the Big Island of Hawaii with my friend Reggie Pare' who lives close to our launching destination. Conditions could not be better for kayak fishing with light variable winds of around 5 to 10 miles per hour. For the last four years when I had the opportunity to fish with Reggie, he had always traveled north to fish with us in Keauhou. It took me two and one-half hours to get there from my home in Waikoloa Village.

South Point is just past Hawaii Ocean View Estates as you head down Highway 11 and is the southerly most tip of the United States of America. This was my second time to make it to this area in five years. I always thought of this area as very desolated, but to my surprise as you pass thru it, it reminds me of the rolling hills of Ireland. South Point, "the point" is known for very turbulent converging winds & currents offshore. Great for fishing on calm days and probably one of the worlds best if conditions are right. Now I can say, "I have been as far south as I could be in the USA."

Yee-Haw South Point...

Written by Paul Belmudes
Saturday, 17 October 2009 05:12

---

Ad us, it was a great catch for the new day at South Point. It is a big one for the future. It is a big one for the future. It is a big one for the future.